

Personal Pathways to success™
GREENVILLE
REGIONAL EDUCATION CENTER

Serving Greenville County

Youth Symposium, Advance Manufacturing and STEM

More than 1,200 middle school students and teachers attended the Youth Symposium on Advanced Manufacturing and Science, Technology, Engineering and Mathematics (STEM) Education that was held at Timmons Arena on the Furman University campus. The event, sponsored by the Greenville Region of Personal Pathways to Success, SC Works Greenville, Furman University and Greenville County Schools, highlighted careers in advanced manufacturing (use of technology to improve products), and STEM educational opportunities available to students.

Middle school students participate in a hands-on activity sponsored by Bosch.

More than 25 manufacturers and STEM-related organizations showcased their products and provided information on careers. Participating companies and organizations included: 3M, BMW, Kemet, Lockheed Martin, Honeywell, ADEX Machining Technologies, Advanced Technology Services, Confluence Watersports, Robert Bosch, Fabrico, GE Aviation, GE Energy, Leigh Fibers, Caterpillar, Discovery Channel, Baldor, Southern Weaving, Advanced Composite Materials, LLC, and GTC. Speakers included Ryan Childers, BMW, Rose Johnson, 3M, and Ginger Lawrence, Advance Technology Service.

Read more and view pictures on the Greenville REC blog at www.personalpathwaystosuccess.blogspot.com

Submitted by: Jay Blankenship Greenville Regional Education Center Coordinator